In the very heart of the old town core of Poreč, a modernly decorated ground-floor apartment with a total area of 95.30 m² is for sale. The apartment was fully renovated in 2017 and is being sold furnished.

It consists of an entrance hallway, a spacious kitchen with a dining area and an open-concept living room, a laundry room, and two bedrooms, each with its own bathroom—one of which is equipped with both a bathtub and a shower. The living room opens onto an intimate terrace, which has provisions for a summer kitchen and a jacuzzi.

The preserved original stone pillar from the original construction adds a special charm to the space, while two solar tubes installed during the renovation provide additional natural light.

The apartment features underfloor heating throughout, and each room is equipped with air conditioning. The windows are fitted with insect screens.
